Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are to have possession of the Strand by September 14, Keogh reported Thursday.

Lions Club Enjoys Picnic at Mission Bay Beach Aug. 28

Members of the Ocean Beach Lions Club and wives enjoyed a beach party and picnic at the Mission Bay beach Thursday night, Aug. 28. Bill Stone, program chairman, was in charge of arrangements and Spike Webb and Bill Bailey were the other members of the committee.

A special guest was Charles Stafford, who is visiting at the home of his brother, Evans Stafford. Woody Woodall played accompaniment to group singing on his guitar. The picnic took the place of the regular meeting for last week.

Distinguished visitors were Past President and Mrs. Albert Whitehouse from the Steubenville, Ohio Lions club, guests of H. B. "Holly" Hollobaugh.

The picnic also was used as an opportunity for the members to respond to the club's new project, that of providing relief to the needy folks in Wyke Regis, England. Commenting on the project, Roger Daisley, the club's new news reporter, stated that "everyone responded nobly to our new project and brought so many things that we are afraid that we will have to make it in two shipments. We still welcome donations of clothing, shoes, soap and other winter things to send each week to the folks over there."

Daisley also reports that "this week saw the presentation by the club of a Banks Braille writer by Lions Bill Stone and Dr. S. Kuntz to Mrs. Alma Scranton of Ocean Beach.

"Announcement is made that the club is in for a treat on Thursday, Sept. 11, when we will have as our guest and speaker, Coach Doug Giddings of Point Loma high school, who will give us the 'Pointers Prospects for the Football Season of 1947'."

Point Loma High Announces Faculty For Coming Year

THREE NEW TEACHERS ADDED; SCHOOL TO OPEN MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 15

Point Loma high school will open for the new year Monday, Sept. 15, Principal Lee L. Bloomenshine reports this week. Registration for new students will be held Sept. 11 from 9 a. m. to 12 noon and Sept. 12 between the same hours, he said.

Principal Bloomenshine also announced this week that the school's faculty is being enlarged by three new members. Another is returning after a year's leave of absence.

Hilbert J. Crosthwaite, instructor of physical education, has joined the staff to replace Don Clarkson, who is now teaching at San Diego junior college. Mr. Crosthwaite is a graduate of San Diego State college, where he was active in athletics and for a time assistant coach. During the war he served for five years in the submarine service of the Navy as a lieutenant commander.

Miss Angie Fox comes new to Point Loma from Memorial junior high school in San Diego, where she has been a teacher of English. Miss Constance Clark, also a new teacher of English, is a graduate of Columbia University and comes to Point Loma from New Jersey. Returning after a year's leave of absence is Chester Riley, instructor in mechanical drawing. George M. Ellis, Norma Jean Receives Royal Welcome to Jacksonville, Fla.

Norma Belloff, young Ocean Beach bike traveler, is now pedaling her way up the eastern seaboard on her cross-country trip, which has taken her from her home here on Mendocino Blvd. to Florida. Following are excerpts from Norma's letters to her mother, Mrs. F. H. Belloff:

August 4th

Somewhere south of Jacksonville.

Dear Mom:—

My artic sleeping roll has been almost unbearable to use on these hot southern nights. The mosquitos forced me to snap it all the way up, so I've lain many a night wallowing in a pool of sweat. On the way to Jacksonville, as the country became more tropical, it was worse than ever. Even a sheet is too much covering and imagine me with thick down-covered padding, plus waterproof canvas. I might have made it do if I hadn't decided to explore Florida. Something more appropriate to sleep in became absolutely essential even if I did not know just how or what to get. Someone mentioned the surplus stores having a tropical sleeping hammock with netting and all. Then when I arrived in Jax (nickname for Jacksonville) I received your letter with the check from the Ocean Beach News. It seemed too timely to be true!

My first day in Jax was very exciting. All the way into town a man in a truck followed me. Fin-

OCEAN BEACH LIONS CLUB makes merry at Beach party and picnic. This red letter social event of the local club was held Thursday evening, Aug. 28 at the local Mission Bay beach.

Lifeguards Report Only One Rescue On Holiday Weekend

Colleen Beule, 11, of 4154 Voltaire, was the only rescue over a long holiday weekend. Stepping into a deep hole in the ocean floor, late Monday afternoon she required aid from lifeguards then on duty. But all in all, it was a safe and quiet swim-fest, with large crowds at the local beach during the three day vacation.

Gordon Penwarden, head lifeguard for Ocean Beach, reports that the body of Lynn Wardell, 40, who was drowned August 11 as he was swimming in the surf off Santa Monica Ave., was recovered August 29 by himself and Lifeguard Jon Kowal. He stressed the fact that no lifeguards were on duty at the time the victim was drowned about 7 p.m.

$80,000 WORTH TERMINAL LEAVE BONDS CASHED BY LOCAL BANK FIRST 2 DAYS

Along with other San Diego banks the Ocean Beach Bank of America did a land office business this week cashing Terminal Leave bonds for local World War II veterans. Biggest rush was on Tuesday, the first day these bonds could be cashed. On that day 164 of the bonds were cashed and on Wednesday 112 bonds. Total bond money paid out on the two days was approximately $80,000, the Bank reports.

The war bond window, of which Mrs. Mary Hume is in charge, is now being used for the bond cashing.

Report On Recent Chicago Kiwanis Convention Heard

Report on the recent international Kiwanis convention in Chicago featured the program of Ocean Beach Kiwanians meeting Tuesday evening this week at Wallace hall. President Henry Holman of the club, who was the club's delegate to the big convention, made the report.

Highlights of the convention he said was the evening entertainment staged at Soldiers Field, Chicago, when Kiwanis International was host to 30,000 underprivileged children on that day. The program he said included a big circus, midget auto races, fire-works and other attractions dear to the heart of the kiddies.

The convention talks were in a serious vein, Holman reported, and in general carried the theme "The Day Has come When We Must Start to Think." At several of the sessions, 7,000 were in attendance, he said.

Luckel Launches Strong Campaign For Hill Bus Line

The campaign to secure adequate bus service for the residential areas of Point Loma heights swung into high gear this week as Capt. Frank Luckel, Assemblyman from this district and president of the Sunset Cliffs Improvement club, wrote the City Council formally requesting the installation of such a bus route.

Capt. Luckel suggested Catalina Blvd. as a likely route for the new line, as this road bisects the section of greatest growth and there are a minimum of steep grades. He also announced that he and Steven Young, president of the Mission Bay Chamber of Commerce, plan to circulate a petition asking for the bus service, to emphasize to city officials the popular sentiment for the inauguration of the new line.

Special 25th Anniversary Edition Of News To Be Published On Oct. 10th

During the war we couldn't do the boasting we wanted to about Ocean Beach. But now that conditions are becoming more nearly normal we can. And we're going to in a 48-page 25th ANNIVERSARY EDITION to be published the tentative date of October 10.

We're going to tell the world we still have the most healthful climate in the U.S.A., together with scenic and recreational attractions equal to the finest. We're going to point out through historical feature articles that right here on Point Loma the real west began and after almost 200 years it's still the choice spot on earth for home folk, homeseekers, growing children, investors or tourists. Every phase of community life, progress and development will be covered.

Preparation of our big 25th ANNIVERSARY EDITION is now underway. The compilation will be in charge of Francis W. Hilton, writer and newspaperman. Our readers are urged to help us make this the most comprehensive and thorough edition ever published in our area by sending in interesting historical sketches or short stories of community life, particularly stories of early day Ocean Beach.

Mission Bay C. C. To Discuss Change Of Council Areas

By Pres. Steven Young

At a regular general membership meeting of the Mission Bay Chamber of Commerce to be held in the auditorium of the Ocean Beach grammar school Monday evening at 8 p. m., Sept 8, a detailed report of the Mission Bay dance of Aug. 28 will be given to the membership.

The meeting will be used to discuss the advisability and methods for securing the redistricting of the Mission Bay area (comprising Ocean Beach, Mission Beach, Pacific Beach and Bay Park Village) into one separate council area with its own councilmen. The public is invited to attend and participate in the discussion.

The dance was the first annual Mission Bay ball and was held at Mission Beach ballroom Thursday evening, Aug. 28. The attendance was the largest to enjoy dancing at Mission Beach in over three years. The affair was a real financial success for Mission Bay Chamber of Commerce. Music by Charles Fitzpatrick and orchestra, a half hour floor show and many door prizes given were enjoyed by the crowd.

Mrs. Lawrence Krettler Has Story Accepted By Cosmopolitan Magazine

Mrs. Lawrence Krettler of 1641 Cable St. was about the most tickled of all the Ocean Beach women Tuesday when she received in the mail a check for $250, in payment of an article she had written and submitted to the publishers of Hearsts Magazines (of which Cosmopolitan is one).

The article, which is titled "Dear Mr. President" and, in a sense, is an open letter to President Truman, outlines the average housewife's reaction to the present high cost of living. The magazine publishers had indicated to Mrs. Krettler that an article from a representative American housewife was what they had in mind and would accept for publication. Which particular issue of the Cosmopolitan the article will appear in has not yet been learned.

Mrs. Krettler, who is an outstanding Ocean Beach writer and a member of the San Diego Writers club, and has contributed several news feature stories for the Ocean Beach News, stated Thursday that though she has received checks before from magazines for articles she has written that this was the largest check of the kind that she has received for one article.

Building Permits In Ocean Beach Area In Six Weeks Total $186,010

The past six weeks have been banner weeks in the unusual large number and value of building permits for new residences and duplexes in Ocean Beach area, a resume of the figures made by The News this week would indicate. A total of 28 permits, ranging from $4,500 up to $18,000, totals $186,010 for the past six weeks. And The News is of the opinion that the year of 1947 is more than likely to be a record-breaker for new dwellings in this area section of San Diego.

Following is a detailed list of the 28 permits issued by the city for this area during the period mentioned:

PAST INTERNATIONAL HEAD TO HELP ORGANIZE OCEAN BEACH 20-30 CLUB

Dr. James Vernetti of Coronado, a past president of 20-30 Service Clubs International, informed The News this week that he is helping with the organization in Ocean Beach of a 20-30 club. He said he had just returned from San Antonio, Texas, where he had last week attended the International convention of these clubs. He also expressed appreciation to the Ocean Beach Kiwanis club for their interest and cooperation in the plans for organizing a 20-30 club here.

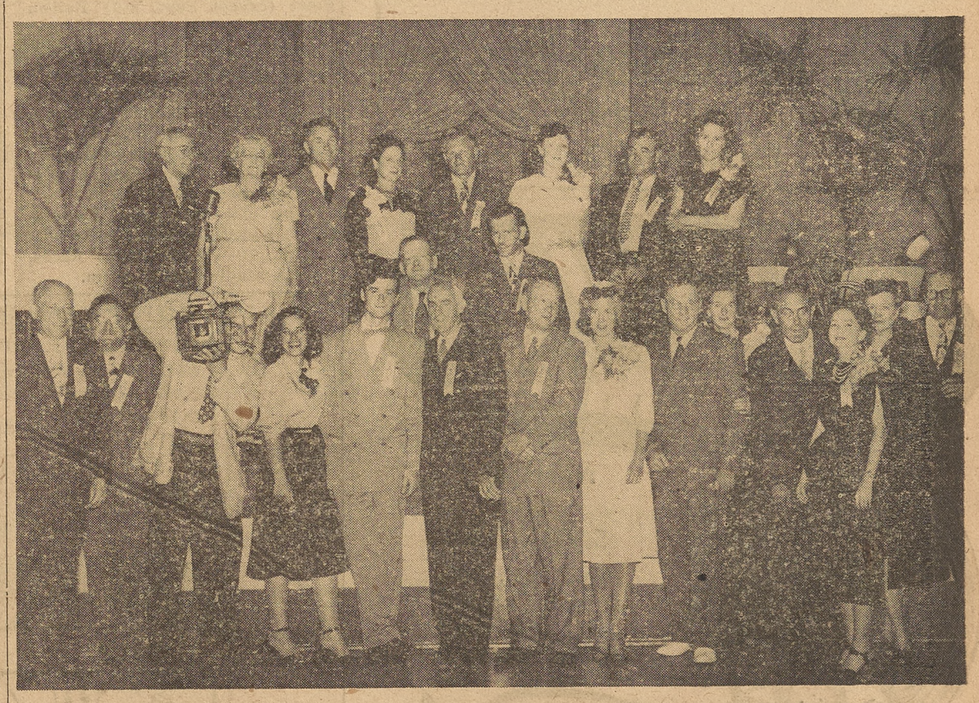

He announced that a preliminary organization meeting will be held Sept. 11, and that he has report from Bill Perkins, the organizer, to the effect that already eight prospective members have been contacted in Ocean Beach.

He says that any and all young men in this area wishing to become charter members of the Ocean Beach 20-30 club are urged to phone Bill Perkins either at B-6954 or Franklin 9-2131.

Padres In Eight Game Series With League's Leaders

Baseball activity at Lane field draws to a close Sunday when the San Diego Padres entertain the high riding Los Angeles Angels in a twin bill starting at 1:30 p.m. Night games are being played through Saturday.

The Padres hit the road Tuesday for a two week stand at San Francisco and Los Angeles before returning home, September 22, to start the final week of the season against the Seals.

With the 1947 campaign coming down the home stretch, several Padres are expected to post seasonal records for the current year. Big Max West is miles ahead in the home run race and should win going away. He came to life against Hollywood hitting three in two days to approach the 40 mark, more homers than the entire 1946 Padres gathered collectively.

Speedy Dain Clay, Padre outfielder who has been used at third base recently, is on his way to the stolen base championship this season and if big Al Treichel can get back in the harness again he may top the loop in strikeouts.

Dependable Pete Coscarart, who had a great year at second base for the Padres, got back into action this week after being on the shelf for two series with a severely sprained ankle.

"Town Meeting of Air" To Originate At Russ on Sept. 9

"America's Town Meeting" will originate in San Diego Tuesday, September 9, with pre-broadcast time set for 4 p.m.. The event is under the auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce International Relations committee of San Diego, and will be heard over 225 stations of the American Broadcasting Company as well as San Diego's Radio Station KFMB. The place is Russ auditorium.

The famous radio forum program, which millions of Americans have made their own, has resulted in thousands of discussion groups throughout the country in homes, clubs, churches, schools, and colleges. It went on the air for the first time on the evening of May 30, 1935. The idea was conceived by George V. Denny Jr., then Associate Director of Town Hall in New York. The initial broadcast was on the subject, "Which Way America—Fascism, Communism, Socialism, or Democracy? Speakers were Raymond Moley, Norman Thomas, A. J. Muste and Lawrence Dennis. Mr. Denny has continued to act as the program's moderator ever since this first trial program.

After the first broadcast, 3,000 letters poured into the Town Hall and to the radio stations which had carried the broadcast. The response was a distinct surprise as this first program had received little advance publicity and only 18 stations carried the program. The letters were so enthusiastic that it was continued, and quickly became a top-notch radio feature. Now in its 11th year, "America's Town Meeting" has received 33 national awards, including the coveted Peabody award which declared the program to be, "the irresistible leader in its field."

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Weissmann of Fried's cothing store returned last week after a four-day vacation in Los Angeles.

Police Warn Car Drivers of "Blind Corners" Hazards

By San Diego Police Dept.

How many motorists know the definition of a "blind corner?" And how many know why they are so dangerous? The correct definition is — any uncontrolled intersection where ones vision is restricted to less than 100 feet. The legal speed is 15 miles an hour and any speed greater than that is inviting trouble. Some people think that the use of the horn through the blind intersection is a safety measure—little do they realize that another driver may use the same so-called safety measure. When two such motorists meet, there is only one result—yes, a CRASH. The real reason that most of these "horn-honkers" use the horn is that they are going too fast to make a stop. At 25 miles an hour, one travels 64 feet just while he looks to see if he should slow down or stop, and an additional 27 feet while moving the foot from the accelerator to the brake —by that time it is too late to avoid an accident.

We can compare a motorist who speeds through the blind intersection with a child who dashes out into the street without looking—neither knows what to expect and neither can do the right thing when an emergency arises. Likely some of these parents who tell their children not to run into the street are guilty of speed at blind corners.

The saddest part about corner accidents is the innocent victims; an innocent victim in a car is bad enough, but what about those little boys and girls who are playing on the corner lot. Yes, they can very easily be the ones injured by the blind-corner speeders. The ones involved in the accident may escape injury, but what about the unsuspecting children who are happily engaged in a game and are struck down as the car crashes into the yard as a result of the collision?

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Long have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Kiniss of 4224 Narragansett Ave.

ally while I was stopped eating some oranges he pulled up to talk. He was all in a dither about my trip. He'd learned I'd come from California and said, "Jacksonville will feel honored! Do you mind if I tell the papers about you?" No, I didn't mind. I had reached the east coast and was bursting to share my feelings. It seems many other people were looking for me. As I cycled thru the busy streets to the "Y." I received a real welcome. I was registering for a bed when a man came puffing in, "I've been chasing you for blocks," he gasped. "You're from California aren't you?" I nodded and the housemother gasped, "Do you mind if we put your story in the paper? Everyone wants to know about you! All day people have passed you on the highway and either told us or asked us for information. We'll be over tomorrow morning. You'll be here won't you?" The reporter still hadn't calmed his excited look when he left. Before I could get settled in my $1.00 a night room, or eat dinner, I was surrounded by "Y" girls and their "fellas," who made me sit with them on the long front porch and tell them about my trip.

The next morning the "Y" mother said to me, "A reporter called you last night and several have called this morning, but I knew you'd gone to bed early because your light was out." "Thank You," I said and was glad to see she seemed tickled with such a fuss instead of bothered. I made a bee-line for the post-office and mail. Before I had a chance to read much of it the reporters 'phoned to let me know they'd be over, with a camera, in half an hour and a handsome acquaintance I'd met in Madison, Fla., was to arrive just then in his convertable to take me swimming and show me Jax. Well, I talked to reporters and had my picture taken in the park across the street;—I'll send the clipping later. E. C. from Madison arrived and waited, then whisked me away. My stack of mail lay on my bed at the "Y," unopened.

We had a wonderful day at the Jax beach, shrimp dinner that evening back in town. It was hard saying good-bye. I enjoyed his company more than any boy I've met so far on the trip.

(Note—Norma worked in the small town of Madison and lived with E. C.'s family, she sent a picture of the whole family and a separate one of the mother, wrote more about them. She stayed in Madison to see the tobacco sheds and attend the auctions, etc. Mrs. Belloff.)

I'm writing to you directly from another "dream came true." At noon today I was finally ready to sail from Jax. I mailed my heavy sleeping roll to Grandmom (in Baltimore). My new one, half as large a bundle, was strapped neatly by the fellas at the surplus store, who showed me how and gave me an extra leather strap. I was glad to leave the teeming city streets. On the Jax beach 20 miles from town, I took some pictures and wandered in the amusement center. It seemed so strange to have cars parked and driving all over the beach,—it is wide and hard sand. They couldn't begin to do that at home. There are 15 miles per hour signs and even a motorcycle cop.

I rode down the beach until I left the Mansion-like beach homes behind. It was just Florida, the Atlantic, the hot sun and me. I was so anxious to try out my new pack I chose a camp right away. High on a sandy hillock, between two palms, I hung my hammock. It took me quite awhile, what with saber-like plants jabbing me every time I bent and the wind twisting the canvas and netting, adding to my confusion in trying to figure them out. I had to laugh at myself.

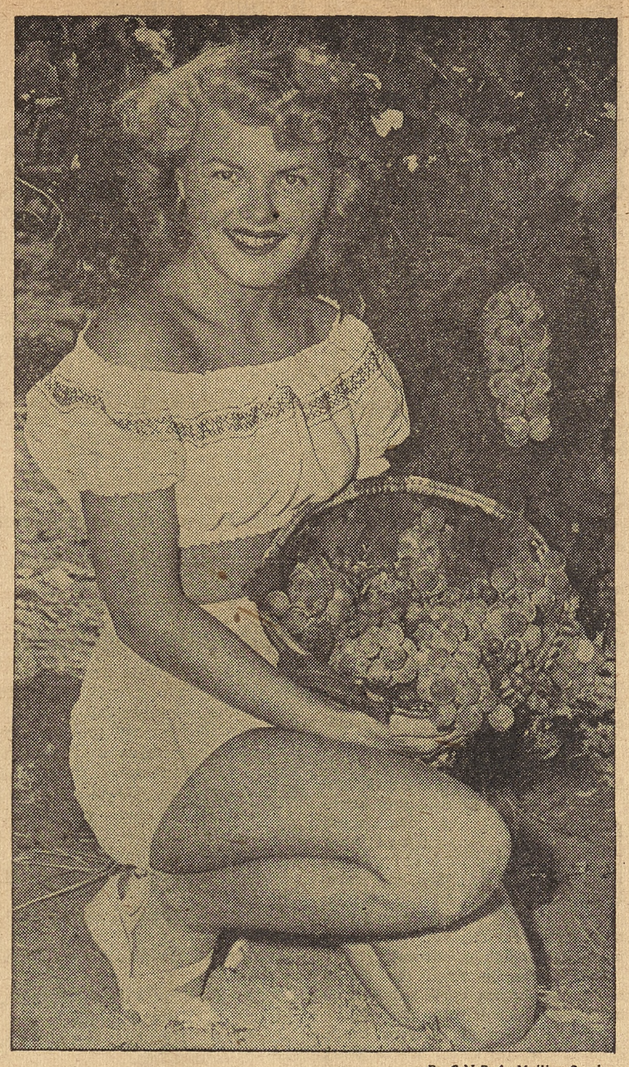

The beauty of the spot excited me, the sweat running off me made me hurry so I could go for a swim. The wind kept pushing my new straw hat in my eyes and a persistant yellow fly kept me stamping.

I ended the struggle when I put in place two sticks to hold out the waterproof roof of the hammock and carefully sat on the edge of it, then stretched out and relaxed inside. It was so comfortable, gently swinging there in the cool breeze, surrounded by tropical plants, with a glaring white beach to the north and south as far as I could see. I might have stayed if the blue and green of the sea hadn't foamed to white with such an inviting sound.

In a few minutes I plunged down the grass-grown bank to the beach and made a running dive for the water. The warm, yet cool ocean glided along my body. The wind caught the top of a breaking wave and let the droplets fall. They made a fizzing, bubbly sound as they hit, giving me the impression that I was swimming in a glass of champagne or soda pop. The stinging salt got in my eyes, reminding me that I was in the sea. I "porpoised" along the surface, dove to bottom and "torpedoed," thrashed wildly in the white foam, caught my head in the green halls as waves folded over and stretched sublimely in a "float" to catch my breath and "rock" over the swells.

The sun went down behind my nest, casting tropical shadows on the sand. I took some pictures but they cannot show the matching golds of sunlight, sun-illumined clouds and greens of tropical vegetation, or my own sun-browned skin. Nor can they show the tranquility of my thankful soul, as I sway here in the twilight, cozily drifting in my new hammock bed.

Love,
NORMA.

For that special melt-in-your-mouth cake you just baked, try a cream cheese topping. Soften cream cheese with a little cream, and add confectioner's sugar and a drop or two of vanilla. This type of frosting spreads very easily without running.

SHORT STORY

Humble Beggar

By Matthew Christopher

THE knock sounded like the soft click of a night latch. Naomi opened the door, and he stood there —a tall, humble looking figure whose sunken grey eyes peered unobtrusively from a sun-leathered face.

If Philip had been here she would have closed the door. She would say, "I'm sorry, but we have nothing left." Or, just, "I'm sorry." But Philip wasn't here. And she was ready to place the food on the table.

"Good morning, Ma'am?" he said, He smiled, a tender smile that broke through his grey whiskers. "Would you be kind enough to give an old man a—a bite to eat?"

Then it was as if Philip was behind her, staring over her shoulders glaring with those level brown eyes of his, saying, "Tell him to go on his way."

The sun flashed a welcoming signal on her bright smile, and touched the high tones of her smoothly planed face. "Come in," she said. "You're just in time."

He had a cautious quality about his step as he crossed the threshold into the kitchen. She could almost hear Philip say, "See how careful he is? You got to watch that kind. That characteristic quirk isn't exactly human nature!"

3-Minute Fiction

Connie ran in from the dining room, her brown curls bobbing on her head like soft coils of spring.

"Go back and get in your chair, Connie," Naomi said. "We're going to have company." She gave the beggar a radiant smile, and pointed to a chair in the dining room. "You may sit there. The hat can go on the bureau behind you."

Suddenly she saw her purse there. She had placed it there after having brought home the things from the grocer's. But it would look silly now to remove it, she thought. Even if he were one of Philip's characters, there was only 60 cents, to the penny, in the purse.

IT WOULD have made no difference in the world to Philip that he was old. The older, the more experienced; the more experienced, the craftier, was Philip's philosophical slant on it.

Naomi heard the man chuckle as she stood at the stove, mixing the gravy with the potatoes. She brought the food to the table, put some in Connie's plate, and urged the man to help himself. He did, unembarrassingly, but he didn't take much. Just a little of each.

He pushed the plate away from him when he was finished, patted his skinny stomach with satisfaction.

"You're not through?" Naomi said. "There's lots more."

He shook his head. "No, Ma'am, thanks. I'm through. It was delicious, believe me, Ma'am. I'm certainly thankful to ye."

Philip would rave when he'd hear. She'd tell him, of course. Why not? She thought, if Philip could be here, now; if he could just sit in a corner and watch, he would cast out of his mind all those ridiculous beliefs he had about these unfortunate human beings.

A tall humble looking figure with sunken grey eyes.

But she'd tell him, and she would laugh when he'd rave.

Back in the dining room, she sat down again and began finishing her meal.

"Mamma?" "Yes, dear?" she glanced up. Connie's black eyes were staring peculiarly at her. "What is it, darling?" "That man opened your purse," Connie said.

Naomi stared incredulously at her aughter. "Connie," her voice was sharp. "Are you sure?" "Yes, Mamma."

Immediately, she thought of Philip.

Quickly, she rose from the chair, swooped the purse off the top of the bureau. She flicked it open with her thumb, and sprawled into it with trembling fingers. And, suddenly—

"Connie!" Her voice shrilled high, bell-like. "Connie, look!" She was smiling radiantly.

The child stared blandly at the old, wrinkled, one-dollar bill Naomi was holding in her hand.

Al Keogh and his sister took over the Strand when their father, John Keogh, died in 1942 and became owners of the building last year. The elder Keogh bought the theatre from Frank Gruber in 1936.

This latest deal means that Keogh and sister have retired from the theatre business, they having previously sold their two other theatres, the Seville in Chula Vista and the La Paloma in Encinitas. That deal was effective August 1.

Notice of the meeting is going out in the September bulletin to be published this week-end and the directors also are asked to notify the members by phone.

To Hear Report on Bay

Main item of business before the session will be a report by Chairman Milton Lancaster of the Civic Affairs committee on the routing of the highway and bridges through Mission bay between Ocean Beach and Mission Beach. The committee has prepared a statement of the Ocean Beach position, copy of which, when signed by the representatives of the various civic organizations here, will be transmitted to City Planning Director Glen Rick.

The accredited representatives of these civic organizations are urged to visit the Chamber of Commerce office in the Strand Theatre Bldg. soon as possible and append their signatures in order that the copy may be turned over to Rick promptly. The committee has reason to believe that the City Planning Commission will be making final decision on the Mission Bay bridge and road routings in the near future.

Jr. Woman's Club to Hold First Fall Meeting Tomorrow

The fall season of activities will begin for members of the Junior Woman's Club here with a social coffee party tomorrow morning (Saturday) at the Sunset Cliffs home of Mrs. Dan Billman Jr., 4420 Leon St. Assisting the hostess will be Mmes. Edward Dennison, Harold Depew Jr., and Bruce Smith. Publicity Chairman Mrs. W. K. Lisle informed The News that all members are welcome to be present and to bring guests.

Mrs. Sprungman Honored

Mrs. Lisle also announced that Mrs. Ormal Sprungman, for the past two years legislative chairman of the Ocean Beach Jr. Woman's Club, has been appointed legislative chairman of the California Federation of Junior Woman's Clubs by Mrs. A. G. Winter, president of the state federation. Local members, said Mrs. Lisle, attribute the two legislative awards achieved by the club to the work of Mrs. Sprungman. She will hold this new post for two consecutive years.

Gretchen Trepte, Fred Allen Jr. Marry August 30

Miss Gretchen Trepte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Trepe, 736 Rosecrans, became the bride of Fred Allen, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allen of Ocean Beach, at the Mission Hills Congregational church at 7:30 p. m. on Aug. 30. Rev. John C. Wiley officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin with finger-tip veil.

Maid of honor was Miss Carroll Scripps with Misses Sary Gay Whitcomb, Mary Maddox of San Diego, Taffey Hill of Palo Alto and Betty May Intlekofer of Los Angeles, as bridesmaids.

Francis Allen of Orinda, Calif. served his brother as best man. Ushers were Morton Carlyle, Walter Trepte Jr., Gene Trepte of San Diego and Rex Reno of San Francisco.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride.

The couple plans a brief honeymoon prior to Mr. Allen's return to California Poly Tech where he is a student. They will make their home at San Luis Obispo.

The bride is a graduate of Frances Parker and Point Loma Schools and did two years of college work at University of Southern California. She is a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and Zlac Rowing club.

During the war Mr. Allen served in the armed services as an ensign in the U. S. Maritime Service.

New Teachers Added

A number of changes have taken place in the faculty at Dana which will total 57 this year —a net increase of five teachers. New teachers added to the staff at Dana this year are as follows:

Miss Alma Bourke, Social Studies, transferred from Florence school.

Miss Ella Cutkosky, Physical Education, transferred from Kearny high.

Mrs. Elaine Eifer, Home Economics, from Ohio State.

Mrs. Helen Merzbacher, Typing, from San Dieguito High.

Loyal R. Roberts, Metal Shop, from La Jolla High.

Mrs. Martha Russell, Physical Education, from San Diego High.

Miss Lucille Stallings, English and Social Studies, from Brooklyn school.

Miss Margaret Van Houton, Adjustment classes, from New York.

Roberts J. Menke, Physical Education, formerly pres. of Student Body at San Diego State and during the war a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy.

Two positions remain to be filled by action of the San Diego Board of Education.

The school has been put in immaculate condition by Head Custodian Walter Dennis and his capable crew. Shrubbery will soon be planted in the court and tennis courts and fencing and improvement of the parking area are promised during the school year. Everything is ready for the opening of the new school year.

Total Naval casualties in the Spanish American War were only 42 men.

ABOVE IS KANDY FRANKIEWICH, who celebrated her first birthday Aug. 22. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Frankiewich of National City and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Robnett of Avenal, Calif. and Mr. and Mrs. John Frankiewich of Elizabeth, N. J. The occasion was observed with a lawn party at the Frankiewich home, at which several friends were present to shower her with attention. George, the father of the little miss, is a member of the staff at Hilmen's furniture store here, and both he and his wife were residents of Ocean Beach for several years before moving to National City.

BIRTHDAY PARTY HONORS MRS. GRACE RIPPEE

Mrs. Grace Rippee of 4628 Green St., who has been confined to bed for some time due to illness, was surprised August 28 when several friends called on the occasion of her birthday. Mrs. Paul Hendrikson of the Newport Hotel presented her with a gigantic watermelon ingeniously inscribed, "Hiya, Grace! Happy Birthday — Jeanette." Flowers also were forthcoming from many friends.

Members of Point Loma Lodge, O. E. S. dropped in with cards and good wishes. Other guests for the impromptu party were Mrs. Marie Katt, Mrs. Erma Nichols, Mrs. Eva Short, and Mrs. Peggy Wells, all of Coronado, and Mrs. John Rippee, Miss Gloria Kelly, and Mrs. Elsie Peters, all of Ocean Beach.

This week it's goodbye to the H. L. Baumgartners of 5025 Lotus, who will depart Sunday for Colchester, Ill. where they have relatives.

TRAFFIC TIPS AND HOT SPOTS

(By San Diego Police Dept.)

Even with the cost of living soaring over our heads, and with high taxes and a big national debt, the American people threw away over six billion dollars last year—wasted it paying for untimely death and injury due to needless accidents! But even those blood-tainted billions of dollars cannot describe tragic waste of life and health. Last year, accidents killed 99,000 and injured over 10,000,000! Wasted lives as well as wasted money. Broken bodies as well as shattered cars. The San Diego Police department makes this plea: Be careful, please—you and the other members of your family. Exercise common sense caution and alertness at home, at work and at play, and when driving or walking. Don't pay such a price for a moment of carelessness. Safety can be had for a little extra watchfulness and carefulness each day. It's the bargain of a lifetime.

Motorists, using hand signals is more than common courtesy—it is a requirement for safe driving, unless your car has stop and turn lights and you use them. The San Diego Police department points out that many collisions would be avoided if drivers always knew the intentions of those ahead. Give the signal well in advance of your turn or stop. Use the left-turn signal also when about to pass another car and when leaving a curb parking place.

A reminder from the San Diego Police department: Good drivers don't brag about getting out of dangerous situations. They STAY out of them!

PHILOSOPHY BY FRANKLIN

If you ask the average American to tell you something about Benjamin Franklin, he will probably mention the experiment o fthe kite, or recall that Franklin was instrumental in drawing up the Constitution of this country. These are but two of his myriad accomplishments, not the least of which was to draw up a list of virtues that are worthy of attainment.

While reading the "Autobiographical Writings of Benjamin Franklin" (Viking Press) recently, there appeared on page 626 the list printed below. That they are strikingly timely is self evident. It was Franklin's plan to master each one in order. He even had a little notebook to keep a daily record of his progress. Perhaps each of us might clip the list and refer to it now and then.

1. Temperance

Eat not to dullness; drink not to elevation.

2. Silence

Speak not but what may benefit others or yourself; avoid trifling conversation.

3. Order

Let all your things have their places; let each part of your business have its time.

4. Resolution

Resolve to perform what you ought; perform without fail what you resolve.

5. Frugality

Make no expense but to do good to others or yourself; i.e. waste nothing.

6. Industry

Lose no time; be always employed in something useful, cut off all unnecessary actions.

7. Sincerity

Use no hurtful deceit; think innocently and justly; and if you speak, speak accordingly.

8. Justice

Wrong none by doing injuries, or omitting the benefits that are your duty.

9. Moderation

Avoid extremes; forbear resenting injuries so much as you think they deserve.

10. Cleanliness

Tolerate no uncleanliness in body, clothes or habitation.

11. Tranquility

Be not disturbed at trifles, or at accidents common or unavoidable.

12. Humility

Imitate Jesus.

Miss: "Please pardon my negligence."

Boy Friend: "That's all right. They ain't showing."

A sailor was relating his adventures in the jungle.

"Ammunition, food and whiskey had run out," he said, "and we were all parched with thirst."

"But wasn't there any water?"

"Sure, but that was a hell of a time to think of cleanliness."

It has been said that home is the place where part of the family waits until the rest of the family brings back the car.

A dime is a dollar with all the various taxes deducted.

Best Man (seeking Scotch bridegroom after the ceremony): "Where's Angus?"

Guest: "He's back of the car trying on the old shoes!"

The three-year-old and his father were being pushed toward the rear of the rapidly-filling elevator. A kindly woman turned to the dad and said, "Aren't you afraid your little boy will be squashed?"

"Not a chance, lady," answered the father. "He bites."

A feminine passenger had boarded the bus after the lights had gone out. A tall man standing near her asked if he could help her find a strap.

"Thank you," she replied, "but I've already found one."

"Then," he gasped, "would you mind letting go of my necktie?"

"Well, little boy, what did Santa bring you?"

Three-year-old: "Aw, I got a little red chair, but it ain't much good. It's got a hole in the bottom of it."

Letters to the Editor

Rockcliff, Aug. 21

Dear Editor and Neighbors of Ocean Beach—The first time I came to Ocean Beach to look over the purchase of my present home, my friend drove me down Voltaire's lovely cypress shaded street with a glimpse of the blue Pacific at the end, with the white capped waves rolling in—and I thought what a beautiful street—in California's sunny land—the shady street was such a lovely place. Not since I had driven through the elm and maple lined street of my northern home had I had such a lovely, back-home feeling, and now I hear the residents of that street want those lovely trees removed—trees that have taken years to grow—trees that frame the ocean beyond and letters like these are written "by fools like me, but only God can grow a tree." Here on the ocean-front, I'd give my eyes for one of those cypresses—but the winds are hard on them—and there they grow in all their rugged beauty and strength. If the good folks would like to know how a street looks—minus its trees—have them look at the barreness around the Ocean Beach elementary school. There may have been a good reason for removing those eucalyptus trees but what a sacrifice. Please Voltaire residents. "Spare those trees."

Rector Of New Episcopal Church Has Experience As Dramatist, Missionary

This new church began every-Sunday regular meetings, Aug. 10, in the Gladys Bowen dance studio on Chatsworth Blvd. and also plans to start a Sunday school soon after the new public school year opens Sept. 15.

Rev. Hanford L. Russell, newly appointed rector of the new Loma Portal Christ and All Souls Episcopal Mission, came to California in 1941 after his retirement as associate rector of Mark's Cathedral, Minneapolis, Minn., where he had served since 1923. His plans at that time included a long vacation with much time spent in the California sunshine. La Jolla proved to be the spot chosen by the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Russell to make their home. After five years of retirement the urge within him to be up and doing things caused him to accept the appointment as rector of the Mission when it was offered him by the Rt. Rev. W. Bertrand Stevens, D. D., Bishop of the Diocese of Los Angeles with the approval of the Rev. Donald Glazebrook, rector of St. James-by-the-Sea Episcopal Church, La Jolla, Dean of San Diego. With his unbounded energy, he could no longer remain happy with the inactive life he had chosen. The affairs of the Church have always been first in his heart, says Rev. Russell.

As a youngster of sixteen he enrolled in the American Academy of Dramatic Art. His unusual talent caught the attention of the great David Belasco. Henry C. de Mille, father of Cecil B. de Mille of Hollywood, took note of his ability and bestowed upon him his friendship as well as his instruction. After completion of the two-year course he entered upon a career as a dramatic critic. His columns appeared in the New York Morning World. He also edited the Ridgefield Press, and the Saratoga Register. With a successful life in the field of drama and literature stretching out before him, he nevertheless discarded this promising career, when through his friend and rector, the Rev. James Darlington, he met Bishop Hare, the picturesque missionary to the Indians. His imagination fired by the picture of missionary life presented by the Bishop, he fared forth as a lay-missionary.

His field, stretching for hundreds of miles around Pierre, South Dakota, proved to be fertile ground for missionary activity, and by 1907, when he was ordained Deacon by Bishop Hare, he had founded five missions—every one self-supporting.

He was ordained Priest in 1913, and in 1916 he was called to be the rector of All Saints Church, Minneapolis. In 1917 he was honored with the degree of Litt. D. He served for 18 years as associate rector of St. Mark's Cathedral He is known for his keen sense of humor, and has just the right amount of stage experience, missionary background and pastoral enthusiasm which go to make up the successful rector of a new church such as is now seeing its beginning in Loma Portal.

George W. Wood, 73, owner of the old Theosophical headquarters property on Catalina, now known as "Woodlands" has been confined to a hospital in Coronado for two weeks but is now well on the road to improvement.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(From Beach News of Sept. 10, 1927.)

Ocean Beach was well represented on jury duty in superior court this week. Those serving included Mrs. Anna Cox, Mrs. Roy Cline, Perry A. Ritchey Carl Schroder, Mrs. Turner B. Kline, and Mrs. Kirk Smith.

Mr. Sam Goldberg of 4956 Voltaire, left last Wednesday for Kansas City and St. Louis to visit relatives. From there Mr. Goldberg will leave for Chicago in time to see the Dempsey-Tunney fight. He expects to be gone for a month or so.

Latest details of the castor-bean fate: The City Council voted down the proposed ordinance to have the bushes removed.

The Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce accepted the resignation of A. D. Piersall as secretary and appointed J. Thos McCoy to fill the vacancy until the next regular election.

SEA SCOUTS TO CATALINA

Don McKenney, Skipper of Sea Scouts Ship 24, sailed with members of the ship Friday, Aug. 29 on a cruise to Catalina. Their ship, the Gulliver, underwent a motor overhauling job in order to be ready for sailing by that time. The Scouts will be gone 11 days. In the event the Gulliver is out of use, the U. S. Navy will supply the boys' transportation aboard a destroyer. Should this happen they would only be able to stay 3 days.

NATURAL SERVICE

Containers from nature for garnishes and condiments add a touch of color and solve the problem of what dish to use. Serve jellies, preserves, sauces or ices in orange, lemon, or lime cups for a meat garnish. Marmalade in a grapefruit shell is an eye-opener for breakfast, while condiments in cucumber boats or green pepper shells grace a ready-to-serve meat tray.

Uncle Sam Says

Whenever I hear one of my nephews say he has bought United States Savings Bonds, I feel like nudging him and saying: "Nephew, you haven't really bought anything. That may sound strange at first, but the proof is simple. Ordinarily when you buy something you have to spend your money. What you have actually done in acquiring savings bonds is to exchange non-interest bearing notes for interest bearing ones. You have merely converted your money into a different form, a form in which it will start growing in amount. In savings bonds form your money earns $4 for every $3 invested in ten years.
